Democratic papers are heralding the fact that Jesse R. Grant is supporting Parker for president. This item is sent on its rounds each presidential year in slightly altered form. Jesse Grant has been a democrat for several years and would naturally support the democratic nominee. His defection to democracy has not made any perceptible change in the usual republican majorities.

A special train was sent to Ash Fork on Monday to meet E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe company. It returned about 8 o'clock last evening with Mr. Ripley's private car attached. Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Knickerbocker of Charles City, Iowa, arrived on Sunday night's delayed train. Dr. Knickerbocker is visiting this section on mining business, being interested in the Great Eastern Placer company and expects to remain here all winter. The doctor has been in Arizona before but this is Mrs. Knickerbocker's first visit here. As they came direct from the home city of Miss Thayer, the Journal-Miner's Simplex operator, the latter was very agreeably surprised to learn of their presence in this city.

The members of the Eagle's band cannot find words to express their appreciation of the royal treatment accorded them on Saturday night at Williams by the republican candidates of Coconino county, the Coconino county Eagles and the citizens of Williams. In addition to being handsomely paid for their services they were treated to an oyster supper and liquid refreshments and cigars were theirs without stint and without price. They did not find a place in the town where they were permitted to spend a cent but in every case where they attempted it their money was shoved back to them. There was a rival democratic meeting held in Williams on the same night for which the Flagstaff band was engaged, but in spite of this the hall in which the republican meeting was held was crowded to overflowing. They all state that Coconino will give a rousing republican majority this year. While there are several democrats in the band, every last member of it, who was at Williams would vote for the Coconino county republican candidates if the were given an opportunity to do so.

It proved to be a regular land slide for Roosevelt.

Governor A. O. Brodie came up from Phoenix on yesterday morning's train to exercise his right of suffrage in Prescott. Notwithstanding the governor of Arizona resides in Phoenix, he has continued to claim Yavapai as his home, and no matter where he is in Arizona, whether as a citizen or an official, he casts his vote in the city to which he has been attached for so long.
